In pursuing a claim under s. 7 of the Guidelines, the onus is on the parent advancing the claim to provide sufficient details that the expense is being incurred, or will be incurred, and particulars of the actual expense involved. That onus has not been met here. There is nothing to indicate the necessity of the orthodontia nor is there anything to indicate whether this expense must be incurred immediately or at some point in the future. Similarly, there is no evidence to satisfy the court that a bed is a health-related expense within the meaning of s. 7(1)(c) of the Guidelines. (total sports activities expense claimed =
